There are few of us wondering what kind of a new year to buy this year. We are lucky if we are not wondering just how to keep the one we now have.

Phone us your news items. This wouldn't take you long, and we surely would appreciate getting them. We want to make the paper as newsworthy and representative as possible. This is only possible through your assistance. Please.

You and Your Boy

I suppose that is unnecessary to tell parents that there is an organization known as the Boy Scouts of Canada. Nearly every father and mother knows that this Association exists. But how much do you know of the activities and connections of your boy with this organization.

Scouting is intended to enter into the daily life of your boy, and from the time he is twelve until he is grown, should make him a better boy in the home, on the playground, and in the school room. If it does not do this then it is not fulfilling its end. But ere you condemn scouting, the Scoutmaster, or even your boy, ask yourself the question, have I done all I could to help my boy to realize the opportunities he has for growth and development in this boy's activity.

Do you know the Scout promise and Law? Are you aware that every scout is expected to do a daily good turn, and that when these turns are found out and advertised they don't count. Do you know that as a scout your boy is supposed to be thrifty, honest and a lozen and one other thing, that will not be mentioned in this article. But all essential points in Scouting.

Your boy makes a number of promises when invested that if adhered to would reduce the parents worry a great deal. As a father or mother you should know what these promises are; not that you should dig and dig away at your boy regarding them, but in order that you could help him live up to them. The Scoutmaster only has your boy one hour per week as a rule. You have him always. You know his problems, his temperament, his likes and dislikes, and by having a knowledge of his promises and activities as a scout you could help him immensely in keeping his scout promises and every promise he keeps, will make him a better boy.

If that is not what you want your boy to be, then his value to you as your greatest asset in life is not fully appreciated. You will live for years in the life of your boy, and his success or failure will be largely credited or charged to you. What greater joy than to have a boy well and highly spoken of in his neighborhood. Applied scouting will help him achieve this end. These few lines present a great sermon in this respect:

I STEPPED IN YOUR STEPS ALL THE WAY

(By Roy Semple House)

A father and his tiny son,
Crossed a rough street one stormy day;
"See papa," cried the little one,
"I stepped in your steps all the way."
Ah, random childish hands that deal,
Quick thrusts no coat of mail could stay;
It touched him with a touch of steel,
"I stepped in your steps all the way."
If this man shrinks his manhood due,
And heeds what lying voices say:
It is not one that falls, but two,
"I stepped in your steps all the way."

But they who thrust off greed and fear,
Who love and watch, who toil and pray;
How their hearts carol when they hear,
"I stepped in your steps all the way."
This is the first of a number of articles we hope to publish on some of the outstanding points of scouting, in the hope that some will be helped to a greater appreciation of this world-wide boy movement.

"Old Tyme Party" Decided Success

The 'Old Tyme' Party given by the Raymond Second Ward M. I. A. Adult Class was a decided success, and truly contributed its share toward lifting the people out of their present depressed mood.

The crowd commenced to arrive at 8 o'clock and by 8:30 the party was under way. The music of thirty years or more ago, was played by "Emmie," and costumes of there were bygone days were in evidence. Once again the old Quadrille and other old dances were prominent in making the evening of fun for all.

Early in the evening prizes were announced for the best ladies costume (old time) and the best dancing. T. O. King, F. T. Holt, George Fairbanks and Mrs. George Hegg were chosen to act as judges. They took note of the dancers until 10:30, at which time they called a dozen or so couple on the floor. These people, (the best dozen) were then asked to dance "The Kentucky Waltz," "The Schottische," and "The Chicago Glide." A great deal of fun resulted for some of these couples were trying a new thing when they danced the "Chicago Glide." Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Erickson of Stirling were the winners of first prize.

The prize for the best costume was won by Eva Salmon. The costume she wore was her mother's wedding dress, a costume of more than forty years ago.

In picking the winner for the costume prize the Judges found a real problem, for so many could justly lay claim. The same could be said of the dancing for there were many who were real good dancers. In contrast with that of our modern Jazz there is little doubt in the minds of those who were taking part at this dance as to which type of dancing shows real beauty, grace and interest.

In order to make the fun complete, a lunch was served at 11:00, under the management of Fred Piepgrass and wife. The repast consisted of Apple Cider (Punch) and Ginger Bread. Needless to say the Punch barrel held a prominent place from 11:00 to 12:30 o'clock.

This party was in charge of Viln Keany and L. D. King, the activity leaders of the Adult Class. Consider the crowd of better than 250 people, and the good time that was had by all, we may truly say that it was a successful undertaking.

News Notes

Egg prices are lower this winter than almost any winter in history.

A farewell is being held in the High School tonight for Weldon Bascom who is leaving shortly on a mission to the Southern States Everywhere is invited.

Roads are in fine condition now although the travelling will no longer be considerable visiting and driving.

RESOLVE RIGHT NOW! that you will assist the Editor and Staff all you possibly can during 1931 by sending or phoning in news of all the happenings in YOUR district, and thus make "The Recorder" as newsworthy and as attractive as possible for all minds eye at least than they would our readers. Give us the items; we'll fix them up. Thank you.

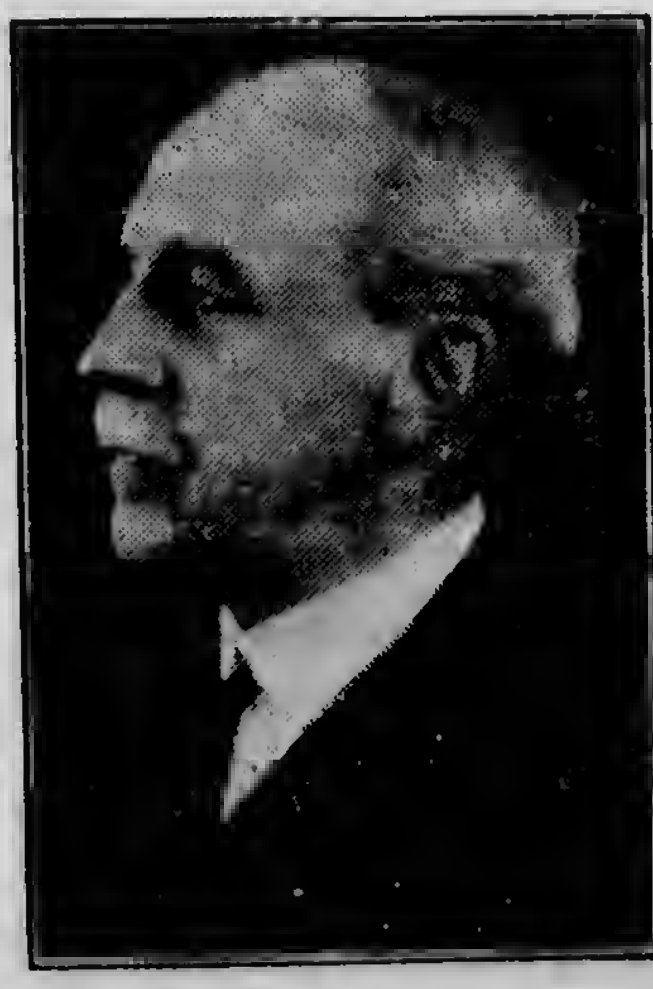

Don't forget the Annual Board of Trade Meeting tonight.

The gravel is now nearly to the railroad crossing west of Spring Coulee and good progress is being made each day. It is hoped that grades can be put in shape fast enough through the district and people are have to stop.

Some of the regular factory employees are having a little breathing spell now after the four months steady run. It will be house cleaning time now, when the equipment will be checked from one end to the other again in readiness for next fall's campaign.

The new model cars have the usual number of improvements, changes in body lines, etc. to make the old ones look just a little more out of style. It is likely however that old cars are far better looking in our best souce of calcium, or lime, it provides the materials for building strong bones and sound teeth.

AN ESSENTIAL FOOD

If any one food can be called essential food milk is such a food. Beyond question, milk is the most valuable single article of diet we possess. There is no other food which can really take its place.

Milk is a food not merely something to drink. In milk are to be found practically all the substances which the body requires. As it is our best souce of calcium, or lime, it provides the materials for building strong bones and sound teeth.

Children must have milk if they are to grow properly and have strong healthy bodies. Milk is a complete food during the first months of life, and breast-milk is, by far, the best for the baby. Cow's milk can never be more than a substitute for breast milk.

As the child grows older, he is given other foods, but during the early year of life, milk forms the basis of his diet. Every child should be given at least one pint of milk a day. This can be taken as a beverage, or it can be served on cereals or other foods, or made into soup, custards, and plain puddings.

Milk is an economical food; there is no waste in it. Because we see it as a liquid, we are apt to forget about the sugar, fat, protein and minerals which it contains and which make it so nourishing.

Milk should not be thought of as a baby's food, or merely as an accessory to be used to flavour tea or coffee.

The initial basketball game for the Union Jacks this season resulted in a brilliant showing against Browning on Jan. 17 when they run up a score of 71 to 28 for Browning.

The next game of the Jacks will be against the Calgary Wild Cats to-morrow night.

Now the next problem is the money for the new license. If the Government would sell them a dollar down and a dollar a month, and let us trade in our old ones as the initial payment, no doubt we would all get the new ones.

Milk should come from clean, healthy cows which are free from disease and it should be handled in a cleanly manner. Before use, it should be pasteurized. Pasteurization destroys any disease germs which may have gained entrance into the milk, for, despite all precautions they do get in and that is why all milk should be pasteurized.

Use milk because it is such a valuable food, but before you take it yourself, and particularly, before you give it to your children, make sure that it is pure and safe.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

HOW ABOUT OUR ROAD PROGRAM

Spring is not far away, and what is the road program for 1931? We understand that the Government is ready to pay half the cost of the six miles of graveling and road work from here to Welling to link up with the Lethbridge road. Has all the preliminaries been attended to in this project so that when spring arrives work can be commenced at once? Of course nothing much in the way of grading could be done now because of frost. But definite decisions could be made as to what will be done, how it will be done, and how it will be paid for so that when spring comes we can see some action. Certainly no one here wants to see Sugar City, M. D., tagging along three or four miles behind in this graveling program. We are on the route, the government has told us what we can expect from them, now the next move is up to us.

We are not criticising. For all we know, the preliminary work has all been attended to. If it has, all glory to our M. D. Council. If it hasn't, then probably some of this good weather could be used to go over the route, determine the amount of dirt work that will be necessary to bring the road up to standard, decide what her it will be contracted or let out by the day, and get outfits lined up so that we will be waiting for spring instead of a lot of good weather left to waste waiting for us. None of these problems are fifteen minute jobs, and the details could be attended to now with much more precision and satisfaction than will be possible in the spring when every man is busy keeping two or three outfits busy in his fields and doing this kind of work in between times.

We have come in for considerable criticism over the road question for several things, and now that a decision has been reached, now that work is being pushed from Cardston this way with all possible haste, we would like to see our end of the trail built up and waiting for the remainder to be finished. Then we can be sure of good roads in winter and summer, we won't have to worry about them every time we leave home. And if it starts to storm while we are away we won't have to make a mad dash to try and get home before the road gets muddy. Every one who drives a car at all will appreciate this road when it is completed through Alberta's Sugar City and District.

Sunday was returned. Miss Barry Sunday and visitors from the other wards of the Stuke were in both Raymond wards.

BETWEEN THE LINES

There is one office in Alberta where the regular routine of daily correspondence is never dull or commonplace. Instead it holds between the lines many a human story that not only scintillates with bright thoughts.

Here is the story of a mail bag with its hundreds of letters received by the Junior Red Cross Headquarters in Alberta, in the Civic Building, Edmonton.

One letter came from a small town near the mountains, where there are many young Canadians of various nationalities. Under the Junior Red Cross they are bound together with a common interest, in a union of loving service to those less fortunate. The writer is their teacher who tells us that her class call themselves the "Jolly Helpers" and that they are anxious to be kind to the little patients of Red Cross in the Children's Hospitals of Alberta.

They had a Toy Shower one day at school and everyone brought their gifts to the teacher's desk, an offering of love and in many cases a real sacrifice, for in the distant settlements toys are hard to come by. With delight they packed them off to the city, and each child had the happy satisfaction that comes from sharing with another, her prized possessions.

At the end of the teacher's letter came the news that in the long ago of several years, she herself had been a member of the Junior Red Cross when a child holding office of President in the first branch ever formed in that district. Time has now placed her in the teacher's seat of authority, and with the valuable experience of her early years in the Presidency of her own Branch this young Teacher at once begins to interest her pupils in the work.

Having attended the Teachers Convention where Red Cross was on the lecture program, and having a radio where she hears a regular feature broadcast on Red Cross, she is able to keep alive her own interest and, best of all, to pass along to her school the priceless experience of a living interest in health and good citizenship in the little local branch which functions so admirably in her school.

As the snowball gathers as it rolls so the work of the Junior Red Cross moves in a quiet strength from one generation to another, with a benediction on all.

GRAIN FROM INDIA FOR WORLD'S SHOW

INDIA WILL BE REPRESENTED OFFICIALLY AT THE 1932 WORLD'S GRAIN SHOW

India will be represented both by exhibits of grain and official delegates, at the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held at Regina, July 25 to August 6, 1932. A communication has been received by the Secretary of the Exhibition and Conference from M. S. A. Hydari, I.C.S. Secretary of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research of India, stating that the Council is proceeding to organize for the purpose of taking active part The provincial government of India are co-operating with the Council in the preparation of a representative National Exhibit of the various grains and fodder crops of the country. The letter also states that at least one official delegate will attend. It may be interesting to note that agriculture is the principal occupation of the people of India. Two-thirds of them are engaged in this industry. Rice, wheat, sugar cane, oil seeds, cotton, jute, peanuts and tea are among the more generally grown field crops.

Here and There

(657) Approximately 20,000 people living in Canada are shareholders in the Canadian Pacific Railway, the number having been increased by over ten thousand during the past year. Many of these are employees of the company, while a large percentage of them are small investors who have bought a few shares with an idea of safety and profitably employing their surplus capital.

On January 15, 1931, the city of Lethbridge, Alberta, was made a point of call on the air mail route operating between Winnipeg and Calgary. Lethbridge is a point of considerable potential importance as the probable point from which the air line to the Pacific Coast will commence. Official surveys by technical officers of the Canadian Government Civil Aviation Branch have definitely indicated the route from Lethbridge as the most feasible passage of the Rocky Mountains.

Operating on an equal footing with the fastest system in the world, the Canadian Pacific Great Quotation Service installed by the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs was officially opened with the New Year and places Winnipeg second to none among the world's brokerage centres. Practically perfect operation of upwards of 80 tape ticker machines, carrying their news with lightning speed, beating all previous records by two-thirds, is announced by W. M. Thompson, manager, western lines, Canadian Pacific Telegraphs.

An official report shows that at the end of November last, there were 446,676 licensed radios in Canada or about one for every 22 of the population. Ontario leads with 228,480 sets and Quebec next with 11,053. Toronto leads all Canadian cities with 71,143 sets and in western Canada Vancouver tops the list with 17,830 sets. Winnipeg next with 16,953. It is only ten years since the first programme was broadcast by radio.

Among foodstuffs taken from the sea, the Indians on the coast of British Columbia put seaweed to worth adding to the menu of an epicurean, and in earlier days it was used among them as money also. On the Atlantic Coast of Canada some use has been made of seaweed, in combination with fish oil, in producing fish meal which is a valuable stock food.

What is regarded as one of the principal unorganized industries of Canada is the work in connection with the cultivation, harvesting and sale of blueberries. No modern methods have been yet applied. It totals hundreds of thousands of pounds in volume of production and there are about 600,000 lbs in cold storage at the present time. Blueberry pie is a dessert that even Epicurus himself would have snatched his lips over.

Fish caught in the fresh water lakes of Northern Saskatchewan are now shipped by aeroplane to markets in Eastern Canada and the United States. About 3,000 pounds of whitefish and trout are carried from the northern lakes to Prince Albert in two daily trips. It is planned to increase the service so that 6,000 pounds can be transported daily to the railroad.

THIS IS THE PLACE

This community has exemplified from the beginning its belief in the efficacy of the mighty principle of faith—and works. It was realized with the first utterance of the now famous phrase, "This is the Place," that that was but an expression of faith; and that to make this really "the place," works would have to be immediately and persistently and continuously coupled with that faith. The policy has proved the key to all our success in the past. It possesses the same magic and undiminished power for future.

It is fitting therefore that "the page" for this first Saturday of the New Year should take this for its text, as discussed by the brilliant editor of Nation's Business. All should read it. There is not only an explanation of the cause of much of our present depression—there is also a clear exposition of what must be done to effect a cure. This is summed up in the demand for a close combination of faith with works—a restoration of confidence and the deeds that show it. It is a suggestion for a New Year's resolution that is decidedly worth while. Deep, profound sermons might be preached from and based upon it. But why multiply words? A single phrase is ample to define it. In business, as in religion, "faith" without works is dead."

Let it be also said here and now that nowhere else is there more substantial reason both for the faith that exists and for the works which demonstrate it, than in these communities of ours in the valleys of the mountains. We have a thousand things to be thankful for that in some other places are lacking. We have escaped many of the ills that have afflicted others. There is nothing to delay the rapidity of our recovery unless we show a lack of courage. And that has never heretofore been a weakness of this community, nor will it be now. The spirit which animated the founders abundantly persists in their followers—that spirit representing the unconquerable combination of faith and works which has given birth and enduring force to the slogan, "This is the Place!"—Deseret News.

News Notes

Monday was quite warm between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

And to all the talk of team work we may add the comment of an Ohio editor: We've noticed that it is usually the case when a family is fighting to keep the wolf from the door that the stork takes the opportunity to slip down the chimney.

News Notes

BEGINNERS IN BEEKEEPING

(Experimental Farm Note)

Each year sees a number of new recruits joining the ranks of the beekeepers, this alone indicates that beekeeping industry is still in fairly healthy condition. Some of the newcomers have gained considerable experience in the management of bees before attempting to establish an apiary for themselves, and because of this are able to commence their operations on a fairly large scale. Others come with little or no experience and must therefore make the start with only a few colonies, enlarging their holdings as experience in management is gained. It is this group of beginners that usually find the first steps in beekeeping difficult, and oftentimes expensive because of mistakes that are bound to occur. Those who are contemplating making a start with bees are well advised to spend at least one full season as a helper to some successful beekeeper, or failing this to visit some apiary as often as possible during the active season and watch the operators at work. Some of the Agricultural Colleges now give extensive courses in beekeeping and prospective beekeepers can obtain valuable information at these courses. Furthermore, there are many books now available that deal with beekeeping from the beginner standpoint, among these might be mentioned Bulletin No. 33, "Bees and How to Install Them." Most of the Provincial Departments have also issued bulletins dealing with some phases of beekeeping and these may be obtained, free of charge, by writing to the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, or to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Other bulletins that are available from the same sources and dealing with beekeeping are "Wintering Bees in Canada" and "Package Bees and How to Keep Them" published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, and which may be obtained free by writing these Departments for them. There are also a number of valuable bee journals that no beginner can afford to overlook. Knowledge is the key to success obtain as much of it as possible.

New C.P.R. Station at Montreal

Costing well over $500,000, with a frontage of 231 feet, a depth of 87 and maximum height of 55 feet in three stories, the new Canadian Pacific Park Avenue station in the north end of Montreal, contract for which has just been let, is slated for completion by October of this year. It will be of combined classical and modern architecture of stone and marble construction and will be a very handsome addition to a part of the city which of late years has grown into one of the finest residential sections of any city in the Dominion. The new station will be approached through an ornamental garden which will be circled, anti-clockwise, by vehicular traffic and there will also be a side entrance from a new north-and-south street for passengers arriving or leaving by tramcars. It will afford additional service to residents of the northern sections of Montreal and is evidence of the ever-growing traffic on the railway from and to the city into the Place Viger station and to the Laurentian district. Photograph shows architect's drawing of the new station as it will appear when completed.

Crossing Our Fingers Is Not Enough --

1931, just in the offing, will bring business to the merchants who are enterprising and foresighted enough to plan ahead and go after it.

And in planning your program, use the valuable advertising and printing service of The Recorder.

And merchants are finding that more and more people are coming to regulate their shopping by the store ads., and are getting out of the habit of going to the nearest store for their purchases. People are coming to decide things from reading the ads.---and depend upon the news and facts contained in the ads. in planning their purchases.

Business may be harder to get, but it can be had. If you have anything to offer, either in goods or service, your advt. should be in The Recorder.

If Raymond is to forge ahead and become an established trading centre of Southern Alberta, it can only be done by persistently and consistently letting the people know what we have to offer---and then making good with them when they come.

Right now---when others, perhaps, are marking time---is our opportunity to dig in and strengthen our position.

Fertilizers for Prairie Crops

Western Canada farmers may look to the future fairly free of anxiety at least—the fear that their land will wear out. For it is evident now that Canada can produce cheaply a tremendous supply of artificial fertilizers whereby growing crops can be provided with the plant food which will materially increase the yields.

There has been a more or less general idea that our land was so rich in the minerals and other plant foods that they could go right on growing crops year after year without becoming depleted. We know that this is not so; it has never happened in any other country, and we cannot expect our soils to do what the soils of no other country have been capable of doing.

We know that, by rotating crops, especially with clovers, better yields are possible. We know that manuring helps the yields. The reason is that more readily available plant food is present in the soil for the growing plant, and that, as a result, yields are higher and less moisture is required to mature a crop. Crops thrive better on a thick soup than on a thin one.

The Consolidated Smelters fertilizer division will this year have a considerable supply of triple superphosphate and ammonium phosphate on hand for distribution. They are trying to get many small acreages tested rather than concentrating on large acreages. This will give farmers an opportunity to learn for themselves what these fertilizers will do in increasing yield, in bringing about earlier maturing, and in reducing per bushel costs. Many farmers will take advantage of the opportunity to secure a couple of hundred pounds of the fertilizer and test it out on four or five acres. That's the way to get the proof of the pudding.

Three or four years ago there were published on this page a number of articles telling of the effect of fertilizer in the wheat sheep state of Victoria, Australia. There, where fifteen years ago wheat growing had become a precarious operation owing to drought and low yields, the addition of fertilizer to land being sown to wheat, and the carrying of sheep at the rate of one sheep per acre of summerfallowed land, has resulted in a stabilization of agriculture in a dry area somewhat similar to certain districts in Alberta. Now that we have the artificial fertilizer available at most reasonable prices we might try out a wheat sheep fertilizer program in Southeastern Alberta. We believe it would pay big dividends.—Lethbridge Herald.

Notes from the A.C.

Wesley Smith, Instructor in Field Husbandry, returned from Edmonton on Saturday. While in Edmonton he attended the Provincial Seed Fair, and a meeting of the Associate Committee on Weed Control. This Committee is associated with the National Research Council of Canada.

During the past two years Mr. Smith has been conducting extensive research work under the directions of this Committee to determine the efficiency of chemicals and herbicides as weed destroyers.

At the meeting of the Associate Committee Mr. Smith submitted a full report on the past year's work. Arrangements for full investigation work were made for the coming year.

As the result of two years investigation Mr. Smith has accumulated a large amount of valuable information on this subject. Any inquiries pertaining to this subject will be given prompt attention.

Benjamin Lawton, Alberta Game Commissioner, is to deliver a lecture and show a film dealing with the Wild Life of Alberta on Friday afternoon and evening.

C.O. Asplund, Instructor in Animal Husbandry, has returned a car load of purebred dairy cattle and sheep to Claresholm School of Agriculture. This stock was loaned by the Claresholm School and proved to be a valuable contributing factor to the class room material for the Animal Husbandry Department.

On Monday night the R.S.A. Basketball team contended for honors with the Stirling team at Stirling. From reports that are about, apparently the Referee decorated the side lines with the majority of the R.S.A. players. The score was: First half, Stirling 18, R. S.A. 22; Second Half, Stirling 31, R.S.A. 26.

Mr. Acheson, Instructor in Farm Mechanics, reports a line-up of tractors representing nine different Manufacturers and there are rumors that more are coming. The instruction in Farm Motors will be conducted in real earnest from now until the end of the term. Representatives of the various manufacturers who have visited the School have expressed their appreciation of the splendid course that is being presented by this Department, and are giving whole-hearted co-operation in making the course a success. This sympathetic co-operation is highly appreciated.
